Why invest in Baja California?

Because of its privileged geographic location and its free trade tradition, Baja California is the ideal region for doing business.

Baja California offers a great opportunity to supply economic sectors that are already established in the state, such as the automotive, aerospace, electronic and medical industry. The Government of Baja California strives to provide the infrastructure, incentives and support needed to help companies interested in investing in the state.

Population

Baja California's population accounted for 2.9% of Mexico's total population in 2016.
